

Whitespell Presents

Turn Followers Into Revenue

With your own streaming app

On-demand video platform

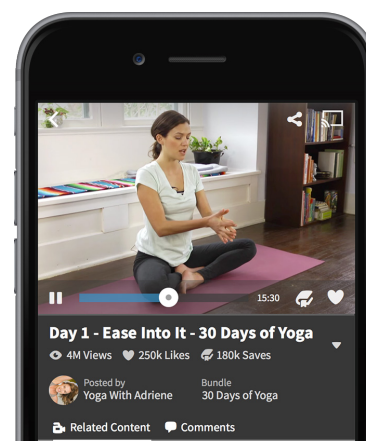

Do you have a lot of followers but not monetizing to your potential? It is difficult to monetize on your social media following. There are a lot of publishers in the same space and you need something to help you gain more exposure and capitalize on what you are selling - which is you and your life. Our platform gives you endless opportunities to connect with your fans through videos, content and photos.

Publish Premium Content

Straight from your phone

We're interested in potentially working with you to create your own app where you could generate fresh content weekly. We envision this as a stand-alone fully customizable app that your followers can download and use to take a look into your life whenever and wherever they are - on all platforms including mobile and web. Having a successful mobile solution can help your grow your business and collaborate with several people in your industry which would bring in more exposure and revenue.

Our Team and Abilities

The possibilities are endless

Since our project with Google and Doctors without Borders on the Ebola-proof tablet we have been building this platform. We have built-in-house video processing engine for optimal quality, savings and scalability. Our team is made of six developers well-known advisors all talented and specialized in their own fields. We've already built the platform, we just need the partners.

Potential Revenue and Structure

The success of your platform is important to us and we will be working together make it amazing! You will be taking home more than half the revenue, and we don't make any money until you do. Technology is growing rapidly and having an online presence is extremely important. We want you behind us, and will work with you to make it happen.

